

ART CLUB ENTRY AND ATTENDANCE POLICY

Introduction

Rachel Grove Art Studio is committed to providing a safe, inclusive, and supportive environment for all children who wish to explore their creativity through art. However, there may be certain situations where the Studio reserves the right to refuse entry or continued attendance to children. This policy outlines the circumstances under which such decisions may be made.

Safety and Well-being

The primary concern of Rachel Grove Art Studio is the safety and well-being of all children. In situations where a child's behaviour poses a risk to their own safety or the safety of others, the Studio reserves the right to refuse entry or continued attendance.

Disruptive Behaviour

Rachel Grove Art Studio values a positive and focused learning environment for all participants. If a child consistently displays disruptive behaviour that hinders the learning experience of others, the studio reserves the right to address the issue with the child and their parents or guardians. In cases where the behaviour persists despite interventions, entry or continued attendance may be refused.

Failure to Comply with Policies

Children and their parents or guardians are expected to adhere to all Studio policies, including safety guidelines, code of conduct, and any other rules set forth by Rachel Grove Art Studio. Failure to comply with these policies may result in refusal of entry or continued attendance.

Non-Payment of Fees

Participation in Rachel Grove Art Studio's classes or programs is subject to timely payment of all fees. If a child's fees remain unpaid after a specified grace period, the Studio may refuse entry or continued attendance until the outstanding fees are settled.

Capacity Limitations

Rachel Grove Art Studio will strive to maintain appropriate class sizes to ensure individual attention and a quality learning experience. In situations where class capacity has been reached, the Studio may need to refuse entry to new participants until space becomes available.

Lack of Suitable Accommodation

The studio is dedicated to inclusivity and providing a welcoming environment for children with diverse abilities. However, there may be instances where the studio lacks the necessary resources or accommodations to meet specific individual needs. In such cases, entry or continued attendance may be refused if it poses a risk to the child's well-being or the overall class experience.

Gross Misconduct

Rachel Grove Art Studio

www.rachelgrove.com.au | @rachelgroveart
art@rachelgrove.com.au | 0429 524 409

In situations involving severe misconduct, inappropriate behaviour, or actions that go against the studio's values and code of conduct, Rachel Grove Art Studio reserves the right to refuse entry or continued attendance without prior notice.

Appeals and Communication

If a decision is made to refuse entry or continued attendance, the studio will communicate the reasons to the child's parents or guardians in a timely and respectful manner. Parents or guardians have the right to appeal the decision by providing additional information or addressing any misunderstandings with the studio management.

Review and Transparency

This policy will be reviewed periodically to ensure its relevance and effectiveness. Any changes to this policy will be communicated to parents or guardians of enrolled children. Rachel Grove Art Studio is committed to transparent communication and will always strive to provide reasons for any decision related to the refusal of entry or attendance.

By enrolling their child at Rachel Grove Art Studio, parents or guardians acknowledge that they have read and understood the Entry and Attendance Policy and agree to comply with its provisions.